

Thoughts from Will Rogers

Will Rogers died in a plane crash in 1935. He was probably, the greatest political sage the US has ever known

1. Never slap a man who's chewing tobacco.
2. Never kick a cow chip on a nice day.
3. There are two theories to arguing with woman ... neither works.
4. Never miss a good chance to shut up.
5. Always drink upstream from the herd.
6. If you find yourself in a hole, stop digging.
7. The quickest way to double your money is to fold it in half and put it back in your pocket
8. There are three kinds of men; the ones who learn by reading, the few who learn by observation. The rest of them have to pee on the electric fence and find out for themselves.
9. Good judgment comes from experience, and a lot of that comes from bad judgment.
10. If you are ridding ahead of the herd, take a look back every now and then to make sure it's still there.
11. Lettin' the cat outta the bag is a whole lot easier'n puttin' it back
12. After eating an entire bull, a mountain lion felt so good he started roaring. He kept it up until a hunter came along and shot him. The moral: when you are full of bull, keep your mouth shut!

About growing older ..

First – Eventually you will reach a point when you stop lying about your age and start bragging about it.

Second – The older we get, the fewer things seem worth waiting for.

Third – Some people try to turn back their odometers. Not me. I want people to know 'why' I look this way. I've traveled a long way and some of the roads weren't paved.

Fourth – When you are dissatisfied and would like to go back to youth, think of algebra

Fifth – You know you are getting old when everything either dries up or leaks,

Sixth – I don't know how I ever got over the hill without getting to the top.

Seventh – One of the things no one tells you about aging is that it is such a nice change from being young.

Eighth – One must wait until evening to see how splendid the day has been.

Ninth – Being young is beautiful. Being old is comfortable.

Tenth – Long ago when men cursed and beat the ground with sticks, it was called witchcraft.
Today it's called golf.

And finally – If you don't learn to laugh at trouble, you won't have anything to laugh at when you get old.
